Webroot® Parental Controls

Keep Your Children Safe From Internet Threats

What Parents Should Know About Their Children's Online Behavior

As a result of Webroot's research and other third-party studies, a profile of how children are using the Internet, and the risks they face online, has emerged:

- Almost 60 percent of children three and older are using the Internet.
- Forty percent of the children surveyed use instant messaging and social networking websites, such as MySpace® and Facebook® everyday; only 30 percent of the parents surveyed believe their children use these sites.
- Forty-three percent of teens who use social networking sites reported an invitation via the Internet to meet someone they did not know within the past year.
- Thirty-seven percent of children ages 11 to 17 reported they had received a sexually explicit email or pop-up advertisement within the past year.
- While 71 percent of parents said their children never buy over the Internet, more than half of the children said they buy things online.
